

WASHINGTON, D. C., SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 3, 1914.

MISS ELEANOR WILSON had another jaunt to New York last week, with a view to further attention to her trousseau or to keep social acquaintances with close friends, her wedding day. Before this week ends her married life will have begun and the White House daughters so intimately connected in the public mind this time a year ago will be the bride well scattered. Being the wife of a public man is likely to curtail the honeymoon of the second White House bride of the present administration, as it has with other nuptial events of this spring, and it is generally expected that it will not be long before the Secretary and his bride will be back again at the Massachusetts avenue home. The enjoyment by the couple of the various entertainments planned for their lately has been very great, as their time was spent almost entirely with their closest official and other friends and informally together.

The dinner which the controller of the currency and Mrs. John Skelton Williams gave for them at their Richmond suburban home—Paxton—Tuesday night, was followed by a dance, to which many of the smart folks of the Virginia capital, including Gov. Stuart, went out, and had their opportunity to offer congratulations and good wishes to the happy couple. The Washington party seemed to have been specially well selected.

The Chevy Chase Club dinner and dance Wednesday night and the dinner last night at Single Oak, the home of Secretary and Mrs. Daniels, with enough daylight for the guests en route to have a glimpse of Woodley lane in its spring dress, were other events with joyful memories attached to Miss Wilson and Secretary McAdoo.

Gayeties generally were resumed the past week and dinners, lunches and other hospitalities followed day by day among officials as well as residents. The call of the outdoor world is, however, being heeded more and more, and if the horse show did not provide the opportunity for good times amidst informal surroundings, they would surely be sought elsewhere. The show will bring about a great deal of entertaining and will offer the first chance this spring for the fashionable world to see itself in sport or dress-up-clothes, and hundreds of others looking on with appreciation of its movements. Otherwise the social outlook of early May does not present a program of great activity, but just as it all ceased recently, after the public mind became centered on Mexico, so it may be resumed with little or no warning. There will be a few other weddings, too, of more than local interest as the month goes on, but the White House event seems to have this week almost reserved for itself.

Dinners.

Mrs. T. De Witt Talmage gave a dinner at the Chevy Chase Club last night to a company of sixteen.

Among others entertaining at the Chevy Chase Club last night were Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers, who gave a dinner for forty-two; Mr. and Mrs. John William Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fox, Miss McCauley and Miss Greble.

Mrs. Powell Clayton, Jr., entertained at dinner last night.

Days at Home.

The Misses Timlow will be at home for the last time this season Monday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Champ Clark has promised to speak some time during the afternoon and others will give short talks in Mrs. N. Loria White's apartment at the Cairo tomorrow afternoon, when the latter will display her collection of things gathered while on an extended journey around the world—Machu and Manderin coats, pictures and oriental curios—for the benefit of the D. C. W. S. A.

Assisting hostesses include Mrs. U. G. K. Pierce, Mrs. William P. Borland, Mrs. Charles Morton, Mrs. Bell, wife of Representative Charles W. Bell of California; Mrs. Ellis Logan and Mrs. Franklin Swift.

A Club Dance.

Wednesday evening last the eighth dance of the season was given by the Fin de Siecle Dance Club. Among the guests were Misses Mary Rizzuto, Frances Washington of New York, Corinne Myers, Winifred Myers, Aurelia Bretow, Inez Jennings, Mabel Lewis, Alnee Butler, Catherine MacDonald, Katherine Roche, Ivy Rupp, Jane Dodge, Carolyn Carpenter, Marguerite McBride, Maude Louisa, Marie Harvey, Mildred Dykes, Beth Meininger, Isobel Carpenter, Lutz Lyons, Rider, Steel, Caine, and Messrs. E. S. Lillard, E. S. Hall, Albert Bonar, James Keeley, Hampton Foster, Fleming, Byron Gallacher, Robert Howard, MacLaren, James Dodge, William Douglas, Michael Holleran, Blythe, Harvey Spinner, George Gibbs, Edward Craig, Bette Brown, Henderson, Shreve, and Bernard Carpenter. The chaperones were Mrs. D. Rizzuto of New York, Mr. and Mrs. G. Irwin Roudley, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Mary Carpenter and Mrs. E. W. Lillard. The next dance will be held Saturday, May 16.

House Guests.

Mrs. W. D. Kearfott of Montclair, the recording secretary of the New Jersey Society of Colonial Dames, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Augustus Jackson, 2121 H street northwest. Mrs. Kearfott is here to attend the council of the Colonial Dames. Mrs. G. de Benneville Keim of Philadelphia is also visiting her cousin, Mrs. Augustus Jackson.

Mrs. Emma S. Thompson, widow of Fred Thompson, civil engineer, U. S. N., residing for the last three years in California, is stopping with her sister, Mrs. C. R. Schubert, at the Rochester, 1428 Meridian street northwest.

Mrs. W. W. Wallace, state regent of Louisiana, D. A. R., will spend the week end with Mrs. C. D. Merwin at her country home at Clifton, Va. Mrs. Wallace was entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Ramsdell, treasurer general D. A. R., during the congress.

Settled in New Home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ormonde Graham have returned from Bermuda, and are now at the Brighton for the remainder of the season.

Dinner for the White House Bride-to-Be.

Secretary and Mrs. Daniels gave a most joyful celebration to their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary by a dinner party last night at Single Oak, in compliment to Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson and Secretary McAdoo, whose marriage takes place next Thursday.

A Costume Dance.

Dr. and Mrs. Paris Brengle entertained Thursday evening at a Periot and Periotette costume dance, the occasion being the tenth anniversary of their marriage. There were thirty couples present. The ballroom decorations were beautiful and unique, and the fantastic costumes of the guests made a scene of great beauty. A buffet supper was served at midnight, after which dancing was resumed until an early hour in the morning.

Coming Events.

The Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Franklin K. Lane will be hosts at a musical Monday night at the Home Club, when the members of the club will be Neighborhood House Benefit.

Mrs. Homnick has arranged an entertainment for May 8, called "The Mystery of the East." It will be given in her former home, 1028 Rhode Island avenue, and is for the benefit of Neighborhood House. Both an afternoon performance and another in the evening, followed by dancing, will be given.

Afternoon Party.

A pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Williams last Friday, when the first birthday of their little grandson, Charles R. Britt, was celebrated. The dining room was elaborately decorated in pink and white flowers and crepe paper. From the chandelier over the table a basket of Killarney roses hung. The little host received many gifts, and later refreshments were served.

Col. Robert M. Thompson will entertain at dinner tomorrow night in honor of the judges of the Horse Show, and Tuesday night Col. and Mrs. Thompson will again entertain at dinner, when their guests will include several from out of town.

Mrs. Thomas P. Gore and Mrs. Oldfield have issued invitations for a luncheon in honor of Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, May 19.
